Dated:- 21-04-2023

I am happy that the Admissions 2023-24, at Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University Delhi, have been initiated.

The University in a short period of time has become one of the well-known higher education institutions for social sciences and humanities in Delhi NCR and the country. The University is known for its innovative curriculum, pedagogy and continuous system of assessments, in line with suggestions made by the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020.

The University has consistently demonstrated a forward-looking thought and innovative spirit across institutional aspects. This makes the University a potential leader in the implementation of several new policy ideas, especially those recommended by the NEP 2020. The University has already implemented five essential principles of NEP 2020 – Multidisciplinary degrees, Innovative holistic curriculum and pedagogy, Academic Bank of Credits, Student welfare and inclusion, Community service, and Internationalisation.

In a short span of time, it implemented four-year undergraduate programme model without compromising the uniqueness of the curricular contents. I am certain that the University will fulfill the NEP 2020 vision of MERU – Multidisciplinary Education and Research University and will become one of the best institutions not only in the country, but globally as well.

As students plan for their career trajectories at this stage, I encourage them to integrate goals of sustainable development across their interests. We are dealing with several ecological issues and have the responsibility to create a sustainable future. If all the young people pledge to be conscious about their role in building a sustainable future through their study, work and daily life, it will have a multiplier effect and will benefit everyone. I am happy that Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University Delhi has undertaken appreciable efforts through teaching, research, practice and extension work in this area.

I trust that the students will gain immensely from the rich academic environment of the University. I convey my best wishes to all the young aspirants of higher education.

The University is doing considerable work towards ensuring that the concerns, languages, cultures, and knowledge of common people are represented in the mainstream education. We look forward to seeing the University excel across areas and provide the best quality and meaningful education to our students.

In the contemporary times, we are witnessing fast-paced changes linked to climate, public health, and technology. As a social science University, Dr. B. R. It has simultaneously integrated contemporary public policy concerns across its activities. I trust that the University's programmes offer immense possibilities for the students keeping pace with the changing times and for mentoring them to apply their knowledge and skills for common good.

SCHOOL OF CULTURE AND CREATIVE EXPRESSIONS

SCCE

The School of Culture and Creative Expressions (SCCE) is visualised as a location which implements a new vision of art pedagogy and practice in the country. It is constituted by the principle of integration, creative overlap and interdisciplinary processes between varied creative practices and disciplines, including historical, theoretical and critical engagements. The School seeks to develop newer and different art-making practices and theoretical insights. Its mission is to develop interdisciplinary paradigms, engaged scholarship, and achieve a greater amalgamation between, on the one hand, theory and practice, and on the other, various arts. The School provides a nurturing ground for the development of new and different art making practices and theoretical insights across the areas of Visual Art, Literary Art, Performance and Cinematic Art.

MA FILM STUDIES

The MA Film Studies Programme is among the very few of its kind in the country. It is designed to enable students to critically engage with cinema as narrative, as an entry into broader questions of media forms (old/new), and as film and media culture. The programme allows students to develop a strong backing to become researchers in film and related fields. It also enables students to demonstrate their awareness of the intricacies of the art, historically and theoretically, to secure placements in the film, television and entertainment industry; or look at writing, publishing, editing opportunities focused on film and media art-related terrain; or by participating in film curation and preservation.

DURATION: 2 YEARS
TOTAL CREDITS: 64

MA LITERARY ART

The programme has pioneered the pedagogy of creative writing in India with its unique insistence on inculcating in students both the practice and the theory of literary writing. It imagines the writer as inhabiting a range of historical, social and existential horizons, each of which have their bearing on the nature and depth of individual literary output. Rather than simply equip students already fluent in English with a set of supplementary skills, it teaches them to acquaint themselves with the literary idioms of the many languages of the sub- continent and of Europe. It encourages them to grapple with some of the most radical theses on the modern as they have been developed for instance by such thinkers as Foucault, Arendt and Benjamin on the one hand, and Ambedkar, Gandhi and Spivak on the other. It asks them to take seriously the political and personal stakes involved in the struggles around indigenous lands, sexuality, caste and gender.

DURATION: 2 YEARS
TOTAL CREDITS: 64

MA PERFORMANCE STUDIES

The MA in Performance Studies at Dr. B. R. Ambedkar University Delhi is a unique programme and the first of its kind in India. Performance Studies is a discipline able to study the complex contexts of globalization and consequent transformations of society and culture. Performance Studies is an interdisciplinary field of research that draws on the social sciences, the humanities, art and theatre.

It focuses on the pervasiveness of performance as a central element of social and cultural life, including not only theatre and dance but also such forms as rituals and practices of everyday life, avant-garde performance art, popular entertainment, sports, political demonstrations and potentially any instance of expressive behaviour or cultural enactment. Thus, the programme aims to contribute to the development of engaged scholarship in the field with a unique perspective given the rich and varied experience situated in and informed by the culture and heritage of India. This program allows the students to develop a unique critical thinking in the field of performance, which can be further implemented in their own practice.

DURATION: 2 YEARS, TOTAL CREDITS: 64

MA VISUAL ART

The MA in Visual Art is a practice-based programme designed to enable students to engage with emerging modes of artistic practices. It aims to carve out new avenues for experimentation and strengthen available spaces for alternative creative practices. The Programme also enables students to take up research— practice-based or otherwise. Along with an array of practical components which constitute the core of this programme, it inculcates theoretical and historical knowledge regarding artistic production, dissemination and reception. The School's decision to admit students from various disciplinary backgrounds for this Programme also opens up interdisciplinary and collaborative possibilities of exchange. The MA in Visual Art attempts to forge a much needed dialogue with the social and the political through modes of engaged artistic practices.

DURATION: 2 YEARS, TOTAL CREDITS: 64

PhD FILM STUDIES / PhD LITERARY ART / PhD VISUAL ART/ PhD PERFORMANCE STUDIES

The PhD Programmes in Visual Art, Literary Art and Film Studies fork into two kinds of research possibilities. One, which is a studies-based orientation, which would produce a thesis comprising historical, theoretical, and critical analysis with a marked sensitivity to creative processes. The other would be a practice-based thesis which will allow creative practice (creative prose or poetry, performance, audio-visual work spreading across media forms) with critical, historical, and theoretical reflection on such practice. This inclusion of creative practice in research epitomizes SCCE's attempts to cultivate a composite culture of creative and critical energies.

SCHOOL OF DESIGN

SDes

The School of Design at Ambedkar University Delhi (AUD) is visualised as both a practice and research-based School for the pursuit of design education from the undergraduate level to the postgraduate and doctoral levels. The first programme, Master of Design (Social Design) commenced in July 2013. The School is unique as it is placed in a university wholly focussed on the humanities and social sciences.

The study and practice of design here is thus focussed on bringing together the traditional attributes of design—the emphasis on form, function, aesthetics and experiences—with concerns of equity and ecology to create more accessible, inclusive and sustainable public services and systems through participatory and collaborative design methods.

The School has been associated with Royal College of Art (London) and the Glasgow School of Art, (Glasgow and Forres) through faculty exchange initiatives and continues to explore future tie-ups with other institutions internationally and nationally.

Faculty members at the School of Design have expertise in diverse fields including architecture, textile and accessory design, urban design, visual communication as well as art, architecture and design history. Adjunct faculty members bring in varied expertise in data visualisation, ecology, service design, social entrepreneurship, sustainability, systems thinking and user interface/user experience.

The Futures Lab at the School of Design has been initiated to undertake sponsored and self-initiated projects to demonstrate the efficacy and value of design in emerging areas of social relevance. The lab has been engaged with two projects on Last Mile Connectivity and Urban Farming as part of a Design Innovation Centre funded by Ministry of Human Resources Development. Currently, it is conducting a design audit of Mohalla Clinics, the Delhi Government's community-based healthcare initiative.

MDes (SOCIAL DESIGN)

The Master of Design (MDes) in Social Design is a 2-year, full-time, practice and theory-based program. Students are trained to draw from the methods and approaches of both, the design disciplines and the social sciences, to creatively address complex social issues. The emphasis is on participatory and collaborative design methods. The areas of focus are public services, shelter and systems (such as health, education,, disaster management, waste, governance interfaces), community networks and livelihoods (pertaining to crafts, informal economies, built and intangible heritage, urban and rural commons), digital technologies (social media, user interfaces and experiences, privacy). Students are also introduced to entrepreneurial competencies and leadership to support them to establish their own enterprises while also providing internship opportunities in established organizations. The academic work includes taught courses and studio projects in real life settings, culminating in a final project of the student's choice. Internships and field studies form an integral part of learning through engagement with communities and organizations in both urban and rural settings. So far, students have interned with organizations such as Center for Internet and Society, Action Aid, Hyderabad Urban Lab, Thoughtshop, Quicksand, Hunnarshala, Seva Mandir and Center for Knowledge Societies.

SCHOOL OF DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

SDS

School of Development Studies was one among the first Schools that were created at Ambedkar University Delhi. Over the years the School has made its presence felt in India and abroad by intensely engaging with different development questions from an interdisciplinary perspective.

MA DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

Since 2009, the school has been offering its MA programme, in generating pedagogies of interdisciplinary approaches to development through its faculty and in consultation with experts from the academic world as well as the world of practice. The programme includes courses that combine theoretical and conceptual understanding with substantial field based learning, along with a strong emphasis on dissertation writing, aiming at nurturing research competence at the Masters level itself. While focusing on interdisciplinary approaches, it also allows students to focus on particular disciplinary approaches, if they wish to, informed by perspectives from other disciplines.

The two-year MA Development Studies Programme is transacted through classroom lectures, workshops, seminars, and field projects. SCHOOL OF EDUCATION STUDIES

SES

SES is envisioned to evolve as a community of professionals and scholars endeavouring to understand education in its historical and contemporary contexts through engaged scholarship and practice. The School aims to bridge the gap between the theory and practice of education in its multiple locations-in that, it attempts to foster greater convergence between the study of education as a social phenomenon and the preparation of professional educators.

While engaging with teacher education, pedagogy, curriculum, policy planning and administration, the School works toward development of a rigorous praxis-based theoretical perspective. In pursuit of this vision, SES launched the MA Education programme in 2012, MA Education (Early Childhood Care and Education) in 2014, Continuing Professional Development (CPD) courses and a PhD programme in 2019. The School prepared its second PhD programme in English language Education in 2022. This programme was developed in collaboration with the Centre for English Language Education (CELE).

MA EDUCATION

SES's MA programme is an attempt to bring together the elements of both liberal and professional preparation of educators. It is one of the few programmes in India that makes possible the study of education both as a social phenomenon and an area of knowledge, and also develops the professional skills needed for practice. This programme has intense field based components at both school and non-school sites. These field components provide a space to students to engage with critical debates in contemporary education as well as field realities and have hands-on experience with processes like textbook and curriculum development. Many graduates eventually work as teachers, teacher-educators, curriculum developers, researchers, consultants and professionals in government and non-government organisations.

SCHOOL OF HUMAN ECOLOGY

SHE

Human Ecology is the interdisciplinary study of complex social-ecological issues at multiple spatial scales. Research and teaching at the School of Human Ecology brings together ideas, methodologies and toolkits from disciplines in the natural sciences and social sciences to understand interactions between the biophysical environment and human society. The School's thematic focus areas include environmental change, biodiversity conservation, ecological restoration, rural and urban transformations, environmental and social impact assessment and public health.

The School offers a full-time MA programme in Environment and Development (MAED) and a full-time PhD programme in Human Ecology. Faculty and scholars at the School employ quantitative, qualitative and geospatial methodological frameworks to study complexity and causality in the intertwined lives of humans and other species. The School deploys careful field-based enquiry to study the 'big questions' of justice, well-being and sustainability in local, empirical contexts. The agency of humans and nonhumans is explored in ecological and social transformations in South Asia, in the present as well as in the past.

MA ENVIRONMENT & DEVELOPMENT

The MAED is a rigorous, full-time, interdisciplinary programme with strong emphasis on reading, writing and field-based research. It is unique in India given its orientation and scope, which is guided by the idea that ecological challenges such as atmospheric pollution, resource depletion, and the attendant threats to ecosystems and biodiversity, result from a complex interaction of socio-political and biophysical factors. Students are exposed to core ideas and approaches from the ecological and social sciences to understand issues at the intersection of human society and the biophysical environment. The programme aims to create change makers who can contribute to sustainability and social justice at the national and global scale through research, advocacy and practice.

DURATION: 2 YEARS
TOTAL CREDITS: 64

PhD HUMAN ECOLOGY

The School of Human Ecology aims to foster interdisciplinary research in areas at the intersection of human society, non-human beings and the biophysical environment. The research programme at the School is guided by the idea that environmental concerns and challenges such as resource depletion, ecological degradation and conflicts result from complex interactions of social and environmental factors, and therefore meaningful intervention in these debates should be informed by knowledge and skills on a wide range of subjects. The uniqueness of the PhD programme stems from its proposal to synergistically link the natural sciences and social sciences to explore and understand environmental issues as well as its emphasis on field-based learning and research. The aim of PhD coursework and the dissertation is to create multi-disciplinary range of knowledge as well as to create depth in a core discipline. A successful PhD candidate at SHE is thus expected to develop understanding of a specialised subject area which is enriched, strengthened and informed by other disciplines that may have a bearing on her/ his research question.

SCHOOL OF HUMAN STUDIES

SHS

This School is an explorative, interdisciplinary space for thinking and reflecting on the myriad meanings of being human. Its academic programmes focus as much on the promise and potential of the human, as on the actual historical exclusions and marginalisations that human have led to. The School offers an MA in Psychology (Psychosocial Clinical Studies) and an MA in Gender Studies. Since 2012, SHS has also offered a PhD Programme in Psychology.

MA GENDER STUDIES

The programme is an integral part of the inter-disciplinary, intersectional and dynamic vision of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University Delhi, which conceives of academic learning as providing students with a critical conceptual framework in its engagement with social realities and issues. Consistent with this ideal, the MA Programme is envisaged as a thoroughly interdisciplinary one, drawing upon gendered analyses primarily from the social sciences and the humanities.

DURATION: 2 YEARS
TOTAL CREDITS: 64

MA PSYCHOLOGY (PSYCHO SOCIAL CLINICAL STUDIES)

The programme attempts to inculcate in students a capacity for clinical and critical thinking that will facilitate a nuanced sensitivity to diverse states of emotional experience, a regard for the margins of 'Indian' society and a capacity to theorise the same. It may be thought of as a first attempt in India to redefine and provide a new direction to the disciplinary orientation of Psychology. We expect our students to engage effectively in academic and research fields. In addition, our focus on clinical thinking and related processes will, we hope, enable students to effectively respond to and work in contexts such as counselling and psychotherapy, which require engagement with the nuances of feeling states and the richness of human subjectivity.

DURATION: 2 YEARS
TOTAL CREDITS: 70

PhD WOMEN'S AND GENDER STUDIES

The Ph. D programme creates a space for questioning silences around gender that steer the workings of caste, class and community in contemporary and historical societies, and in the social sciences. The programme will assimilate analytical understandings of the significance of gender (relations) and foster study of conduits and configurations of power, causes, contexts and consequences of women's subordination.

PhD PSYCHOLOGY

The doctoral programme in Psychosocial Studies is guided by a vision. Its method is to retain ethical engagement with forms of life and cultural modes of being that are rendered invisible and voiceless by the dominant discourses and politico-social structures and processes. Moreover, a psychosocial framework of research is facilitated by a concern about relating to nuances of human subjectivity and an attempt to feel the psychic recesses, dilemmas, resilience, life choices and conflicts in the participant's inner world. Guided by a critical perspective that constantly seeks to question both knowledge and power--questioning given structures within the discipline of psychology as also outside, historicizing/sociologizing knowledge, and orienting towards an inter-subjective world view within which affects, feelings and the phenomenological flow of life are received—the programme seeks to generate in the participants a nuanced sensibility to facilitate their clinical-critical, participatory and dialogical work.

MA ENGLISH

The Masters Programme in English proposes to dismantle the hierarchy between British Literature and other literatures in English, including literatures in translation. It seeks to bring into focus the significance of literatures belonging to lesser known languages and regions. Strengthening the overall vision of Dr. B. R. Ambedkar University Delhi, this programme hopes to orient students towards engaged and reflective scholarship. A concern with social and literary margins will consistently guide the programme's overall vision, philosophy and content. It is hoped that the programme's ethical concern with linking education to the lives and struggles of individuals and communities will enable the students to form a holistic understanding of literature. It will also help them to develop deeper psychic, social and creative sensibilities. It is further envisaged that through this programme the students will develop a critical sensibility towards the larger politics of culture, society and state so that they actively and artistically interrogate and intervene within the givens of the hegemonic political and cultural order.

The programme integrates interdisciplinary paradigms to facilitate a greater amalgamation between various literatures, theory and practice on the one hand, and between music, dance, theatre, cinema, visual arts, and folklore on the other. Students will be offered a wide range of interdisciplinary courses which will help them situate literature in the context of other disciplines. To that end, some courses have been designed or envisaged as bilingual and/or multilingual.

In order to enable critical thinking, intervention and praxis, the programme will encourage engagement with the lesser known literatures and cultures in India and elsewhere. Students from a wide range of disciplines and not necessarily from humanities are encouraged to apply.

The two-year full time programme will comprise 16 courses of 4 credits each, amounting to a total of 64 credits, including an optional dissertation. The English Programme does not follow a core-optional model. In keeping with Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University Delhi's emphasis on interdisciplinary studies, students will be encouraged to opt for up to four courses from other programmes within the School of Letters or from any other schools of the university. Assessment will include term papers, class presentations, class discussions, class participation, workshops, tests and assignments. Students will be provided with a detailed reading list for each course. Students will be strictly expected to attend and participate in all class discussions.

MASTERS IN COMPARATIVE LITERATURE

The Masters Programme in Comparative Literature is envisioned as an innovative Programme consistent with the vision of Ambedkar University Delhi. It aims to promote engaged and socially responsible scholarship, making students aware of the links between literature and broader questions of identity and difference, language and culture, local/national/global interfaces, culture and politics, authority and authorship, reading and interpretation, and translation as cultural mediation.

The Programme is constituted around the principle of integration of various literatures, and interdisciplinary processes between varied practices and disciplines, including historical, theoretical and critical engagements. Thus, the Programme is directed towards finding interdisciplinary paradigms, greater amalgamation between various literatures, theory and practice on one hand, and between music, dance, theatre, cinema, literature, visual art and so on, on the other. A major focus of the Programme is literature and its relation to the community; in other words, to critically engage with literature in terms of its contemporary relevance, interpretation, socio-political affect, social change and transgression.

The Programme seeks to develop the profile of the student as a comparatist capable of thinking beyond boundaries in ways that are creative, innovative, interdisciplinary and socially relevant. PhD COMPARATIVE LITERATURE AND TRANSLATION STUDIES

The School of Letters, Dr. B. R. Ambedkar University Delhi, offers a range of interdisciplinary courses and programmes in the literary humanities that support, encourage and redefine the meanings of literature, culture, language and humanisms in historical and contemporary perspectives. Tagore translated “Comparative Literature” into Bengali as “visva sahitya” or world literature. The choice of sahitya for literature reveals the possibilities of comparative studies of literature in our part of the world. Comparison is not just comparing disparate objects but nurturing a conceptual space in which the imagination can be confronted with otherness. The aim of the research programmes in CLTS in SOL is precisely to turn literature into an experience of that otherness, which both questions and redraws the sense of culture, nation and identity. While close-reading skills in the original will be a key aspect of the comparatist–translator’s brief, researchers in our integrated PhD programmes may also choose to bring literary studies in close dialogue with other disciplines from the humanities and social sciences. The programme encourages the practice of translation and recognizes its significance in ways that will promote the reading and dissemination of literatures in as many languages as possible, with a focus on Indian and South Asian literary cultures. Currently supervision in the following research domains is available: theories of comparative literature, South Asian literary cultures (Bengali and Urdu), politics and aesthetics of translation, and minor literatures.

PhD HINDI

The interdisciplinary and eclectic approach in terms of pedagogical experiments and methodological interventions that form the crux of the visions of the School of Letters has also been the guiding principle for the research programmes facilitated by the Hindi faculty of the school. Any student enrolled in either of the two research programmes, i.e. PhD in Hindi, is encouraged to participate in and contribute to this vision.

The PhD in Hindi is of three years, extendable by two years, and comprises both the course work as well as the thesis writing. Candidates are provided due guidance through the supervisor and Research Advisory Committee assigned to her/ him. They are subjected to the requirements and guidelines of the university for presenting their research progress in front of the concerned committees. All researchers in Hindi programme are encouraged to participate in conferences and seminars, along with getting their research papers published in recognised journals as part of their research engagements in the programme.

PhD ENGLISH

The distinguishing feature of the Research programme offered by the English faculty of Dr. B. R. Ambedkar University Delhi is that students shall be encouraged to pursue inter- or multidisciplinary research based on the assumption that concerns raised in literary texts often find resonances or analogies in other disciplines. The faculty shall make every effort to create an intellectual environment in which a researcher has the confidence and freedom to challenge canonically accepted critical positions and methodologies. The rationale behind any research undertaken in this programme shall be to understand how a literary or cultural text is profoundly influenced by art, politics, style, history, psychology, image-making, translations and technologies that define the spirit of the age in which literary production happens. Literary research in the contemporary world should, therefore, be inspired sometimes by present anxieties and discontents, sometimes by new areas of knowledge and visions of a different future; it should re-establish, for its own time and location, the truth or the enigma of any text; and, finally, it should claim its place in the same cultural and moral habitat in which other acts of reason and imagination take place.

GENDER-SENSITIVE CAMPUS SPACES

Building 'gender-sensitive and healthy' campus spaces is crucial for creating an enabling environment where our students and faculty, as individuals and as groups, can unfold our creative potential. The acts that constitute harassment are often general and diffused in our life. It is, therefore, important to understand what constitutes sexual harassment and how it affects our everyday lives in both public and private spheres, in educational institutions and work environments. Our attempt is to generate a consciousness amongst the university community that treats the experience of sexual harassment as a violation of one's dignity as well as freedom of mobility, speech and expression. We are committed to providing a creative and stimulating academic culture and healthy and safe campus life to our students and staff. We welcome all those who join us in the coming year to become a part of this process of creating a campus environment with a unique and fulfilling experience.
